Question:

If We see cops or any person is beating up an innocent person in a place crowded with people & all know that he is innocent but still we choose to just ignore the scene & walk away instead of helping the innocent person. So in such case do we incur bad reaction? If yes, how can we escape it.

Answer:

If you have the power stop the cop (say you are his boss or you are big politician or an officer with powers) and you don't stop him then you will incur sinful reaction.

If you don't have the power and walk away then you will incur MASS KARMA i.e. Society as a whole will incur sinful reactions for some activities like Cow killing.
